

About the position:

Do you want to be a part of a team that is changing the world for the better through impactful verbal communication? Our AI-powered speech coach, MySpeaker Rhetorich, is a globally unique solution that analyses the effectiveness of anyone's speech and provides individually tailored feedback within minutes. With the help of this solution anyone can become a better verbal communicator, thus achieving more in their careers, becoming better leaders and beyond.

What's part of the job:

- Assisting in any events where Rhetorich is promoted
- Content ideation and production for select camapigns/events on Rhetorich
- Website updates and improvement to SEO
- Assisting in client analysis
- Other tasks based on situation and skills

Requirements to the applicant:

- Language skills
 - English - excellent level of written and spoken skills required
 - Spanish, French, German - not required, but nice to have
- Motivated Attitude towards continuous learning
- Efficient and punctual way of working
- The position will be in the marketing team, so any previous knowledge or work experience from the field will be considered an advantage for the applicant

More about MySpeaker Group:

MySpeaker is the leading Nordic and fastest growing speaker bureau in Europe.

Five years ago, we decided to create the world's leading speaker agency. One where work is done with heart, without compromising on quality and taking care of the team.

Today, we operate globally in three different countries, with a strong team of 50 professionals, on the way towards our vision. Wherever you meet us: our passion is to help our customers achieve their goals.

Together with our top speakers, moderators and coaches, we want to increase well-being in your community, share information and bring out new perspectives. We want to develop the skills of your community and be a spark for change. We guide you confidently, easily and effortlessly through the planning of speaker content for your important events – so you can save time, focus on what you do best, and be sure that you get the perfect solution for your needs from us.

Our experience and commitment drive our understanding of global trends and customers' needs, and guide our ability to meet them. Our ever-growing network and unique AI technology, MySpeaker Rhetorich, support our mission to make a lasting difference. We truly believe in and boldly invest in the future of speaking and the human need to experience and improve verbal communication.

Read more about MySpeaker here!

Follow up on LinkedIn!